

Dear Mr. Tim Holt,

ActiLand is a leading company to make educational products, teaching and learning toys in China. Over a decade we have been a trusted source for many top companies worldwide in educational product industry. Our in-depth China business experience, expertise, and industry connections enable us to provide quality, timely, and comprehensive products and services.

Products & Services

The company's diverse product line of over a thousand products serves mainly children, students, and teachers markets focused in the principles of mathematics, reading, music, art and science.

1. China manufacturing and outsourcing– hands-on manipulative and educational toys (age group +3 yr to 14 yr), in different materials by different manufacture methods such as plastic injection molding and die cut, EVA foam (pattern block, fraction tiles, etc), wood (cubes, dominoes and geometry solids, etc), paper products (printing and packing, corrugated, SBS, chipboard, etc.), special packing (sewing, luggage, metal, plastic), office and school supplies, marketing and promotional items.
2. Product design and development – plastic mold injection products, cutting die, plush toys, sewing products, packing structural design etc.
3. Assembly and co-packing in China – help customers on assembly and co-packing projects - just another step to make the supply chain management easier.

Product Quality Control and Safety Compliance

We stay on top of our customer's compliance programs; understand the U.S. and European etc. laws and regulations in product safety. Our plants are ISO 9001 certified, and some of them are also ICTI certified, and evaluated based on our customers' code of conduct. Our products for children are conformed to U.S. 16CFR, ASTM-963.07 and EN71 standards.

China is the most dynamic emerging market to provide the vast range of sources, but the obstacles such as: far away from your company, different time zone, language barrier, culture clash, lack of on-site quality control and inspection, constant local regulation and policy changing will undermine your potential achievement. ActiLand stands here in China to remove all these hurdles for you and work with you in the most professional and cost efficient manner you are familiar with to accomplish your targets.

Best regards

Lucy Xiao
