Brand New World values our commitment to provide safe, durable and quality products that enrich young lives and develop minds. The safety of children is our top priority in both the design and manufacturing of each product.

Brand New World products are tested via independent testing laboratories to ensure compliance with all applicable CPSIA safety standards and laws which include, in part, small parts, physical/mechanical, flammability, lead substrate, and phthalates testing.

Brand New World has a long-standing business relationship with our vendors and together we work to ensure that rigorous quality control measures are in place for every item that we manufacture.

We are fully aware and appreciative of the trust you put in us and we hold that trust in highest regard.
