To Whom it Concerns,

The Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 establishes new regulations governing safety of consumer products. All Califone® items fall into either the “Consumer” or the “Children’s” product classifications, “Electronic” sub-classification. They are tested to meet the applicable regulations from their respective group.

Please note the following items:

- No Califone product is classified in the “Children’s Toy” category.
- We currently do not have any products that are subject to Section 24 of the Federal Hazardous Substances Act.
- Section 108 Phthalates does not apply to our products.

Every tested item requires Califone to issue a GCC, or General Conformity Certificate of compliance. The GCC for each product acts as an umbrella document certifying all of the required testing has been completed for that product and fulfills the responsibility of Califone to meet CPSIA regulations.

We are supplying this letter stating Califone has fulfilled our CPSIA requirements.

Please feel free to contact us if you have any questions.

Thank you!
